LEAP Update 2014

Over 1,400 Idaho loggers have taken the 3-day University of Idaho Extension program on forest ecology, silviculture, and water quality titled Logger Education to Advance Professionalism or "LEAP". Flyers for 2014 LEAP sessions (April 15-17 in Coeur d'Alene or April 29-May 1 in Moscow) are available at your local UI Extension office or at http://www.uidaho.edu/extension/forestry/content/calendarofevents.

LEAP Update is an annual opportunity for loggers to build on LEAP with in-depth training on forestry topics identified each year by loggers. The program is held in conjunction with Associated Logging Contractor's (ALC) first aid training, to allow loggers to fulfill the Idaho Pro-Logger program annual continuing education requirement in one, 2-day session (the first aid training and LEAP Update together yield 12 credits of continuing education). The session also meets Idaho Pro-Logger BMP training requirements.
