Program Application

(Due April 1, 2013)

I would like to be considered for University of Idaho Extension's Master Forest Stewards Program. I understand that if accepted into the Idaho Master Forest Stewards Program, I must complete the prescribed 70 hours of IMFS training to be a certified volunteer. I also understand the program requires 70 hours of volunteer service after the training. Participants not able to commit to 70 hours over two years of volunteer service after completing the training should not sign up for the Idaho Master Forest Stewards Program. Upon being chosen for the program, there will be a fee of $40 to help off-set the cost of program materials and refreshments.
