11. References

The persons you ask for letters of reference should be able to comment on your academic ability and on your potential as a teacher of freshman composition. If you have been out of school for three years or more, you should include at least one recommendation from a former teacher.

Your confidential references for your application to one of the English graduate programs can also serve as references for your teaching assistantship application. These must be postmarked by February 1. If you want to have additional references sent for your assistantship application, these are also due at the same time. Referees are to send their letters of reference to:

12. Statement of goals and writing sample:

A. As part of this application, please include a statement of your teaching philosophy.
B. M.A.-English, M.A.-TESL, and M.A.T. applicants: The writing sample which you included as part of your application to the program will also be considered part of your teaching assistantship application. M.F.A. applicants: Unless an analytical essay is part of your portfolio, include one with this application.

To the best of my knowledge, the information provided on this application is true and correct.

(signature of applicant) (date)

Send this application and your statement of teaching philosophy and, for M.F.A. students, an analytical essay if not part of your application to the M.F.A. program, to the appropriate director.
