2013 Health Savings Account Contribution Amounts

If you enroll for…	You may save up to…	The University will contribute up to…	Maximum 2013 IRS Total HSA Contribution
Employee Only Coverage	$2,750 (Contribute $1,000 to receive the full University matching contribution)	$500 ($0.50 for every $1.00 contributed)	$3,250
"Family" coverage in one of the following coverage tiers: • Employee + Spouse or Other Eligible Adult • Employee + Child • Employee + Children • Employee + Spouse or Other Eligible Adult + Child(ren)	$5,450 (Contribute $2,000 to receive the full University matching contribution)	$1,000 ($0.50 for every $1.00 contributed)	$6,450
If you are age 55 or older, you can save an additional $1,000 in catch-up contributions

Spending Your HSA Dollars

Use your HSA funds tax-free to pay for qualified health care expenses for you, your spouse and any dependents you claim on your federal tax return.

Because you own the HSA, you are responsible for ensuring tax-free withdrawals are spent on qualified health care expenses. Review a list of eligible expenses at www.irs.gov. If you contribute or withdraw money from your HSA, you must declare these amounts on your federal tax return.

Every effort has been made to make certain that the information in this communication is accurate. However, this communication is only intended to give you an overview of your benefit plans and does not contain all the details about the benefits provided, exclusions and other terms and conditions of the plans. Your benefits are determined according to official plan documents. If the information in this communication differs from the plan documents, the plan documents will govern in all cases. The University may amend or terminate these plans or any benefits provided by these plans at any time. Neither this communication nor any of the University's policies for benefit plans should be considered a contract for purposes of employment or payment of compensation or benefits.