Jack Nisbet - Spokane-based teacher and naturalist to present:

"David Douglas, Inside and Out"

Over the course of a decade in the 1820s and 30s, Scottish naturalist David Douglas tirelessly collected flora and fauna in the western hemisphere. In 1828-29, he just as tirelessly worked with Great Britain's leading scientists to describe and classify his specimens. This presentation will compare Douglas' performances in the field, in the laboratory and in the lecture hall.

Jack Nisbet

Fritillaria lanceolata

Special Seminar as Part of REM 341 Systematic Botany Jan. 28, 2010 12:30 p.m.

College of Natural Resources Room 10

All University faculty, staff and students invited

*Jack Nisbet is the author of Purple Flat Top; Singing Grass, Burning Sage; Visible Bones; and two books about fur trader David Thompson: Sources of the River and The Mapmaker's Eye. His current project, The Collector: David Douglas and the Natural History of the Northwest explores the interactions of this early Scottish naturalist with the landscape and culture of our region. For more information, visit www.jacknisbet.com.

Sponsored by Friends of the Stillinger Herbarium

University of Idaho
College of Natural Resources