

STUDENTS GUIDE TO ACADEMIC PROBATION

The University of Idaho is concerned about your academic future and is here to support you in your return to good academic standing through the ASAP! Program, which is REQUIRED for all students on Academic Probation.

ASAP! Will:

- Provide you with important information concerning Academic Probation policies
- Help you to identify and modify behaviors, actions, and decisions that led to your Academic Probation
- Offer you support and develop goals to reestablish good academic standing
- Connect you to campus resources such as tutoring, counseling, mentoring, study groups, and other campus programs
- Help you calculate exactly what grades you will need to get off probation as soon as possible
- Assess your progress on a regular basis to review goals set in your Academic Success Agreement Plan

As stated, this program is REQUIRED for all students on Academic Probation. Failure to participate will prevent the hold from being removed on your account, and will also be considered by the Reinstatement Committee should you be disqualified from the University of Idaho. We believe that the knowledge of campus policies and the utilization of campus resources, combined with your hard work and our support, are the key to achieving academic success.

YOUR “ASAP!” TO-DO LIST:

Step 1: Attend Probation Orientation

Look for an email from your advisor about when/where your Probation Orientation is being held. Here you will learn academic probation policies, receive your probation paperwork, and schedule a time to meet with your advisor.

Step 2: Complete the Self-Assessment Survey

There are many factors that contributed to being on academic probation. The self-assessment survey is required because it will help you and your advisor to understand what led to your probation status and establish an action plan and goals for the semester.

Step 3: Complete the GPA Math exercise

As a student on probation, you are encouraged to predict your grades for next semester. While on probation a primary concern is raising your GPA. To really know where you stand and what it will take to get off probation, you are required to calculate your projected semester GPA.

Step 4: Meet with your Academic Advisor

After attending Probation Orientation, completing the Self-Assessment Survey and the GPA Math exercise, you will meet with your advisor to turn in those materials and to prepare and develop your Academic Success Agreement Plan.
