Service-Learning Recognition Mixer

Thank you for all who were able to attend our 2015 Annual Recognition Mixer, which took place on April 23rd! The service-learning project display boards created by Tracie Lee’s BUS 378 students were very well constructed with lots of information about the project.

Special thanks to:
Academic Affairs Vice Provost. Jean Stevenson
BUS 378-Project Management students involved in this event:
- Rachel Krick
- Kaley Intravia
- Alie Ireland
- Nathon Lothrop
- Sara Petersen
- Alex Stewart

Muffins baked for event:
Mackenzie Ferrante is FCS 175 Introductory Food Laboratory class

THANK YOU!

---

ANNOUNCEMENTS & INFO

- President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll application for 2015 submitted!

Please stop by the Service-Learning Center to pick up your copy!

---

The View from my Service-Learning Classroom

Antony Davis of FOR 310-Indigenous Culture and Ecology has conducted yet another successful Service-Learning trip! He’s taught in Jordan, Philippines, Haiti, and now Hawaii! The students presented their Hawaii service-learning project taken place at the Kakalau National Wildlife Refuge and Waikoloa Dry Forest Restoration Initiative representing enthusiasm and dedication.

While in Hawaii the students gained understanding of the region’s historical agricultural and forestry systems native to flora, climate and hydrology, and sociopolitical challenges. The hands-on work related to the native plant nursery management teaches skills and practices not able to learn in the classroom.

---

WSU & UI Partner for 2015 Campus Community Forum

“Collaboration Across Boundaries”

The 2015 Campus Community Forum partnership with WSU proved to be a great success! The speakers from many community partners, both UI and WSU faculty, and students shared their experiences and lessons learned from their specific service projects. The roundtable discussions created a pathway for bigger and better things to come for our community and its civic engagement. Please keep this forum in mind for next year!