If you did not major in accounting for your undergraduate degree, please see reverse side for requirements that must be completed prior to taking the four required graduate courses. If you did not major in business or accounting for your undergraduate degree, please see reverse side for requirements related to the required 24 credits of business-related courses.

The required graduate-level accounting courses presume you have already taken the equivalent of an undergraduate degree in accounting. For students with other undergraduate degrees, you may also need to complete additional coursework to meet prerequisites for required graduate courses or to obtain the required 24 credits of business and business-related courses. In consultation with the graduate committee, your major professor will make the final determination of equivalent courses from your transcript.
