UI’s International Structure:
The International Programs Office (IPO) at the University of Idaho supports the comprehensive internationalization of the UI community through the services and activities of its departments, committees, and established programs which include the following:

Departments:
- International Marketing and Recruitment
- International Student, Scholar, and Faculty Services
- Study Abroad
- The American Language and Culture Program
- International Grants, Contracts, and Initiatives
- International Outreach

Committees:
- International Engagement Committee
- International Emergency Response Team
- International Enrollment Working Group
- Advisory Group on Immigration Issues

International Opportunities:
- Faculty/Staff-led Study Abroad
- International Experience Grant (Study Abroad)
- International Faculty/Staff Development Award (FIDA)
- International Teaching Abroad (USAC)
- Intercultural Learning/Training
- International Links, Mentors, and Ambassadors

In order to succeed in a complex interconnected world, students, faculty, and staff must develop a range of intercultural skills. The IPO staff is passionate about transforming lives and supporting a globally engaged university community. To learn more about your international opportunities, review www.uidaho.edu/international or visit the International Programs Office, located in the Living Learning Community Building, #3.

"The issues confronting today’s leaders require the ability to understand and address both local and global challenges. In order to build inclusive and prosperous communities, future leaders must possess the knowledge, skills, and cultural understanding that can transcend the borders of our interconnected world."
