Information

A graduate teaching assistantship is a selective, paid position that comes with responsibilities that include working closely with assigned professor to support the academic offerings of the course, participation as a critic in final studio reviews, and assisting in University recruiting events. A TA position includes a stipend and partial or full tuition waiver and requires that all TA's be on campus a week before school starts for training and to assist with class prep.

Selection of TA's is based on availability of funding, program needs, and alignment of faculty and student preferences. This is a competitive application process, with a limited number of positions available. It is recommended that you speak with any instructors whose courses you wish to TA for so they know of your interest and can advise you about any required preparation for the position.

Preferences

Circle or highlight your top 3 preferred TA assignments and rank them [first (1), second (2), and third (3)] in the box immediately to the right of the course you have selected. Please make your selections for both semesters.
