Program Description
This workshop will explore implications of the 2017 Federal income tax legislation for landowners managing and selling timber, as well as a brief refresher on the basics of income tax considerations for timber sales.

In addition, the new Idaho trespassing law, passed by the legislature in 2018, created changes in the posting requirements for private property as well as changes to the definition of trespass and the penalties. Implications of this new law for the landowning and recreating public will be explained.
