News

Get Into The Swing of Jazz Fest

The University of Idaho Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival is "Inspiring Futures Through Jazz" this year from Jan. 20 -23. Check out the schedule.

"That Year of Living" at the Prichard Art Gallery

The Prichard Art Gallery will showcase Jeffery Henson's exhibit, "That Year of Living," from Feb. 20 – April 6. It will feature a series of photos through time showing the diagnoses and battle of cancer. The exhibit will be curated by James Wyman. Henson first started photographing the Black Panthers in San Francisco when he was 13 years old. Through the years, he has photographed American society and culture. There will be a reception on Feb. 20 at 5 p.m. to launch the exhibit. Read more.

Siblings Find Success in Idaho

Seldom do a brother and sister attend the same university at the same time, let alone be successful collegiate athletes. In the case of Maxx and Ali Forde, they wouldn't want it any other way. Maxx is a redshirt sophomore defensive end for the Idaho Vandals football team while Ali is a freshman who redshirted with the volleyball team and sees ample playing time as a post on the basketball team. ### Volunteer Vandal Friday

March 1 is the deadline to register to be a Vandal Friday volunteer. While student volunteers are important, faculty and staff volunteers really enrich the experience for new students. It gives faculty and staff a chance to discuss various jobs and fields and gives new students the chance to interact with faculty and staff before the semester. Read more.

Call for 2013 Virginia Wolf Distinguished Service Award Nominations

The University of Idaho Women's Center invites nominations for the 2013 Virginia Wolf Distinguished Service Awards. Deadline closes March 1, 5 p.m. This award was created in 2002 to recognize individuals like Wolf, whose continuous dedication to activism for gender justice brings about lasting change.
