

POSITION DESCRIPTIONS & ANNUAL EVALUATIONS

NOVEMBER 5, 2024

DIANE KELLY-RILEY
VICE PROVOST FOR FACULTY

1

OUTLINE FOR TODAY

- Position Descriptions
- Annual Evaluations
 - Why
 - Challenges
 - Process
 - The Evaluation Form
 - Suggestions for Success
- Discussion

POSITION DESCRIPTIONS

PURPOSE OF POSITION DESCRIPTIONS

See FSH 3050

- I Establish faculty member's duties in the four major responsibility areas: Teaching and Advising; Scholarship and Creative Activity; Outreach and Extension; University Service and Leadership.
- I Serves as the reference point in the annual performance evaluations of faculty and in the consideration of faculty for promotion and/or tenure.
- U of I system updated in 2018 to have a more fixed position description that reflects the broad duties of the faculty member (and is not negotiated every year).
- For additional information visit: https://www.uidaho.edu/provost/faculty/pds

ANNUAL PERFORMANCE EVALUATIONS FOR FACULTY

WHY DO WE GIVE ANNUAL EVALUATIONS?

- Opportunity to look back to celebrate success and give constructive feedback.
- Opportunity to look forward to establish goals, expectations, etc.
- Considered in the P&T process
- Basis for performance raises (FSH 3420 B)

CHALLENGES FOR UNIT LEADERS

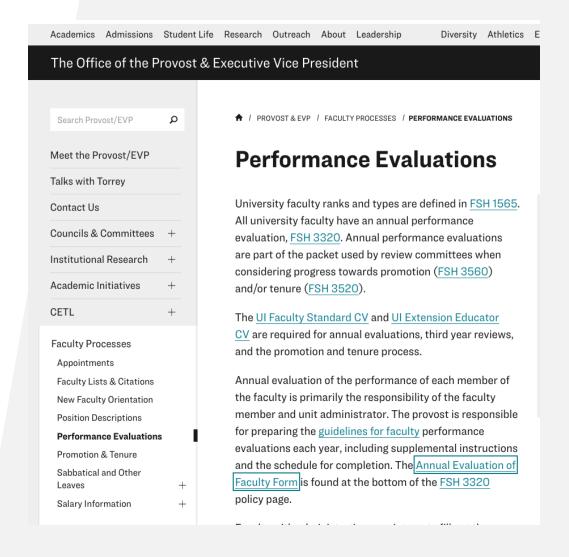

- Evaluating your colleagues
- Evaluating people who are "experts" without regular direct supervision
- Sometimes there is conflict when holding people accountable
- Creating a written record of a subjective judgement
- Evaluations will be read by your colleagues in the P&T process

TAKING STOCK

- A great deal happened in the past year that potentially affected faculty work
- Capturing changes in work and/or additional work
 - Long-term substantial changes in effort should be reflected on the position description (increase in course load).
 - Shorter-term workload efforts should be reflected in the CV and the Annual Activity Report (development of course materials).

ACTIVITY REPORT

https://www.uidaho.edu/provost/faculty/evaluations

THE EVALUATION FORM

The form is available on the FSH 3320 webpage.

See our "Guidelines" document for directions.

"Overall" box: It is your decision. It is not intended to be weighted on PD percentages.

PROCESS OUTLINE (FSH 3320)

- Chair requests materials from faculty
 - Deadline?
 - Request a self-evaluation?
 - Provide a template for the activity report?
- Faculty member submits materials (A-1.c)
 - CV
 - PD –does anything need to be adjusted?
 - Activity report
 - "Other materials..."

POLICY AND PROCESS (FSH 3320)

- Unit administrator writes the review and delivers to the faculty member (A-1.d)
- Offer a conference (A-1.e)
- Faculty member may respond in writing (A-1.e)
- Materials are signed and then forwarded to the college (A-1.f)

IF YOU HAVE A NEGATIVE EVALUATION

- Review with your dean prior to delivery.
- Consult with the Provost's office prior to delivery for major problems that could lead to personnel actions.
- For any "Does Not Meet" evaluation, there are required actions outlined in FSH 3320, section B. It is the responsibility of the unit administrator and dean to complete these tasks.

University Service and Leadership ⁵
Overall faculty member met or exceeded the expectations defined in the position description	←2024
2025 →	s toward tenure, promotion, and/or continued satisfactory perfor	rmance.*
Polotionship to Promotion and Tonu	re Process. The faculty annual performance evaluation is a	an administrative review. Annual pendent promotion and tenure process. See FSH 3520 and 356	60 for details on the promotion and

COVID IMPACT STATEMENT

DISCONTINUED FOR THE ANNUAL PERFORMANCE EVALUATION PROCESS

- If there were lingering potential pandemic impacts, they can be addressed in the annual evaluation materials. Overall, university operations resumed to regular practices and so the additional COVID impact statement is not included this year.
- This is not to say that pandemic does not have lingering effects on faculty work—slow publication production and other issues. If you have a faculty member whose work has been affected, they should contextualize that in their statements and/or responses.
- These statements are still allowed in promotion or tenure dossiers.

- Policy is your friend. Become familiar with relevant policies (FSH 3320, bylaws, etc.)
- Don't avoid problems or tough conversations. (Do they ever get better when unaddressed?)
- Avoid surprises. Deal with problems before they get to the annual evaluation.
- Be clear. Be concise. Be fair.

- Hints do not work! Don't "sugar coat" problems. Get to the point.
- Comments should focus on professional issues, not personal judgements.
- Chose words carefully. Stay away from opinionbased phrases like:
 - I feel that...
 - In my opinion...
 - I don't like how...

- Identify both strengths and weaknesses.
- Include constructive comments that offer solutions/suggestions that look forward toward intended outcomes.
- Intere are three types of evaluations. Be sure you know which one you are writing so you provide a clear message.
 - Positive
 - Mixed
 - Negative

- Be specific!
 - Bad: Professor Slump's scholarship is not up to par.
 - Good: Professor Slump struggles to submit publications in a timely manner and is not presenting his work at conferences or professional meetings.

- Be conclusive regarding P&T:
 - Professor Superstar is clearly meeting expectations in all areas and is making exceptional progress toward promotion and tenure.
 - Professor Soso is making many positive contributions but the concerns noted above could have a negative impact on her application for promotion and tenure.
 - Professor Slackerton is struggling in multiple responsibility areas as noted above. He is not making progress toward promotion and tenure.

- Positive performance evaluations do not guarantee P&T success; however, should someone be denied tenure with all positive evaluations? Are you being as honest as possible?
- Be cautious about student course evaluation data; however, student comments can help support your points, especially when you see common threads.

- Can we address collegiality? Yes, but do it in the context of work expectations and job function:
 - integrity concerns
 - unwilling to perform service duties
 - patterns of conflict with others
- Avoid general statements about collegiality, personality, etc.
- Is the criticism "observable"?

RESOURCES:

- Your college dean and dean's assistant
- Provost's Office: 885-2564
 - Cari Espenschade: cari@uidaho.edu
 - Diane Kelly-Riley: dkr@uidaho.edu
- Provost's website -- Faculty Processes -- Performance Evaluations

Human Resources Business Partner

SUGGESTED RESOURCES

Our institutional subscription to Academic Impressions provides access to many excellent resources regarding these processes and they have great in person workshops.

Readings

- In the Essential Department Chair: A Comprehensive Desk Reference by Jeffrey L. Buller
- IThe College Administrator's Survival Guide by C. K. Gunsalus
- Working with Problem Faculty: A Six-Step Guide for Department Chairs by R. Kent Crookston